UNKNOWN MAN KILLED

Unidentified Man Throws Himself in Front of Train and Is Ground to Pieces

WANTED ALL DAY TO DO IT

Was First Seen Around the Depot at Wadsworth and Gave the Impression that He Was Demented

An unknown man somewhere between thirty and forty years of age, Friday morning a half mile south of Wadsworth, hurled himself in front of the 8:30 o'clock train and was ground to pieces.

There was no doubt but that the unknown was determined to take his own life, but for what reason is not known. The fact that he stayed in the vicinity of the station all the morning and that he was ordered away because his actions were some what queer, would seem to substantiate the suicide theory.

The deceased arrived in Wadsworth Friday morning and was a perfect stranger to every one in the village. He was first seen Friday morning about eight o'clock and presisted in remaining on the tracks Thinking that he might be slightly demented or that he might be trying to take his own life, he was ordered from the tracks by one of the rail road company's officials. He complied and was last seen walking south on the rail road track.

The engineer of the train that stops at 8:30 o'clock reported shortly afterward that he had struck and killed a man half a mile south of the village. He declared that the man had thrown himself in front of the train when it was impossible for it to be brought to a stop.

The man when recovered was badly mangled. His head was crushed and his legs and arms were broken.

The remains were taken to Waukegan and a coroner's inquest was held the verdict being "eccidental death while walking on the right of way of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

While there was nothing about the body to identify it and there is no way of knowing who the man was, there is reason to believe that he was a Waukegan man, or at least that he had been there for some time.He was wearing a cheap pair of canvas gloves that bore the trademark of the Model clothing store of Waukegan. and it is possible that he may have friends in that city.

He appears to be about five feet nine inches tall, is clean shaven and has course brown hair slightly curly. He was dressed like a working man rather than an ordinary tramp.

His clothing consisted of a coarse kersey coat. heavy pair of blue overalls a heavy blue shirt a heavy pair of shoes and a slouch hat. He wore a white handkerchief about his neck and his underwear was cotton fleeced.

The remains will be kept at the undertakidg rooms for some time pending identification.

Later—The remains of the unfortunate man were Identified Monday morning as those of Nick Broison of Gernee, who although he had lived in the vicinity for the past twenty-five years was not recognized until his late employer, Ed. Clark of Gurnee identified the body through the discovery of a pocket knife which Broisen carried and which Clark declared he could identify among a thousand.

The fact that the body had laid unidentified for so long although he was killed not far from his brother's house makes the whole affair a most unusual one.

The facts in the case further show that the man killed at Wadsworth did not commit suicide as was reported at the inquest but was in fact another man entirely than the one who was seen hanging around the depot at Wadworth. He had spent the night at his brother John's and Friday morning started for the Wadsworth depot to catch a train for Gurnee. He walked from his brother's house up the track and was struck at 8:20 and it is therefore apparent that he was not the man seen at the depot, who seems to have disappeared, hence the confusion.

Broisen has a brother George in Montana, also a brother John at Gurnee, and three sisters, Mrs. Went and Mrs. Bloom of Wadsworth and Mrs. Williams of Roundlake.

The Doom of Bridge.

A reaction against bridge appears to be getting in in English society. It is even becoming common to hear people declare that they do not play, and the younger set is making a stand against it. In its stead billiards seems to be gaining ground.—N. Y. Tribune.

ROBS A LONE WOMAM

Mrs. Eli Triggs of Libertyville Gives Battle to North Shore Thug

Standing on the platform of the Chicago & Milwaukee electric road at Truesdell avenue, Lake Bluff, where transfers are taken to the Libertyville line, Mrs. Eli Triggs, of Libertyville, was held up and robbed at 7 o'clock Monday night.

However, she did not submit tamely and the unkuown robber, believed to have been an intoxicated man, got his plunder consisting of a handbag and its contents after a knock-out blow delivered br Mrs. Triggs.

Mrs. Triggs had missed one Libertyville car and was awaiting another. There were no cars in sight. Truesdell avenue junction is a deserted spot.

She was standing on the Libertyville side of the platform when she heard the door of the main line station, across the tracks, open and a man with his hat over his eyes and coat collar pulled up approached her.

Got any money? he asked Mrs. Triggs. The woman replied fearlessly that she had not, and at the same time lunged a blow at him that nearly brought him to the ground.

He at at once arose and with a snarl grasped her handbag and wrenched it away from her. Another blow from him felled the bandbox from the woman's hand and up the tracks the man flew with the handbag in his clutches.

The handbag contained a set of false teeth, about two dollars in change and other articles of small value.

Mrs. Triggs' daughter Evelyn, a young girl was with her.

The robbery is the first of the kind to occur in this lonely spot. which from its siolation in spite of the frequency of cars passing to and fro, would be a temptation to an up-to-date holdup man.

NOTES FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Interesting Items of News Furnished by the Freshmen

Hazel Tiffany was absent Tuesday.

Priscilla Albinger has returned to school in Miss Hogan's room.

The basket ball team is ready to challenge any team to play a game.

Anyone finding any bugs is requested to take them to Belle Hughes. She has the description for the biology class.

There was a party at Pearl Horton's on Monday evening, Oct. 14. Those who attended had a nice time. Refreshments were served.

We are going to have a quiz in zoology, general history and physiology Friday.

The Juniors are not a very large crowd,
But still they act awfully proud
And whenever in history they think they can beat
Us Freshmen then we are ready to take a back seat.

So Juniors, Juniors, don't you cry,
You won't have to work so hard by and by;
You will get used to this kind of work,
And may catch up with the Freshmen with a jerk.

PISTAKEE IS BEING SEINED FOR CARP

Under the supervision of Ben Stilling of Pistakee Bay, work will commence next Friday at Pistakee Bay and Pistakee Lake, seining the carp from the two bodies of water. This is the second year that this has been done and it is claimed that there has been much better fishing at the two lakes this summer than there has been for a number of years. Three big scows are put into service. They are pulled through the water by motor boats and between them are held seins. At frequent intervals these nets are pulled up, the carp sorted from the other fish and carried in the scows to a big pen, fenced off in one corner of the bay. State game officials superintend the sorting to see that no game fish are taken from the lakes. It is estimated that at least 25,000 pounds of carp will be caught in this manner. After the seining is finished the fish are shipped to Chicago, where they are sold. Exterminating the carp from the lake regions has been declared an impossibility, but it is believed that constant seining will do much to thin out the fish.

Experience and Character.

It is good to multiply experiences. It is good to do many things and to have manifold relations with the world. It is good to touch many people, and to see many sights, but it is good, it is necessary, to be content with no experience which remains simply as experience and does not pass on and into character.—Phillips Brooks.

STAND PIPE IS ASSURED

Village Board Awarded Contract for its Erection Saturday Night.

TOWER TO COST $7163.00

Mr. George C. Morgan, Construction Engineer of Chicago, has the Contract and will Commence Work at Once

At a meeting of the village board held on Saturday evening of last week, the subject of the building of a stand pipe was under discussion, and final arrangements for the erection of the same were made.

Some time ago it was decided that Antioch was to have water works and the trustees of the village at once began to consider where the stand pipe should be erected. Various places were considered and their choice finally fell upon the lot just back of the Simons house on Orchard street, which they purchased of Mrs. Mary Williams for the amount of $300.

Their next step was to determine how the system of water works could be installed with the least expense to the village and at the same time be of substantial build and give entire satisfaction.

At the meeting of the board Saturday evening the motion was made seconded and carried to let the contract for the erection of the stand pipe to Mr. George C- Morgan of Chicago.

Mr. Morgan was here one day last week and showed plans and specifications which the trustees deemed most satisfactory.

According to the terms of the contract the stand pipe is to be between 100 and 110 feet high with a brick elevation of 60 feet, the remainder being of s teel, the foundation is to be five feet deep and of stone.

The contract calls for power house, gasoline engine and tower complete, and the necessary connections made with the pipe already in the street for the sum of $7163.

The board still has the right to purchase by contract any or all of the necessary material, if by so doing they can lessen the cost, and we understand that by the judicious purchasing of brick and stone the trustees have already saved $150 which will be deducted from the above mentioned cost.

Antioch has long been in need of water works both as a fire protection and as a convenience and luxury in the homes and the citizens of the town highly commend the action of the board, and their efforts to improve the town.

The work of erecting the tower will be commenced as soon as the material can be placed on the ground and will be rushed to the finish.

Although it is only calculated to use the water as a protection against fire, at the present time, it is the intention of the board to extend the mains and pipe the water throughout the village as soon as the village finances will permit.

DEATH OF MRS. MARIA AYLING

On Tuesday evening at 11:30 o'clock at the home of her sons, William and John Ayling at Lake Marie occurred the death of Mrs. Maria Ayling, at the advanced age of 86 years, 2 months and 9 days.

Mrs. Ayling had been in poor health for some time and although her death was not unexpected when it came it was with a severe shock to the family and friends.

Mrs. Ayling was born in London, England, in the year of 1821, and passed away at this place October 15, 1907. She was posessed of a kind and loving disposition and was beloved by all who knew her.

The funeral services will be held at the Ayling home on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock and the remains will be intered in the Antioch Hillside Cemetery.

RELEASED FROM JAIL ON BAIL

Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Schmidt and Walter Grenhalgh Released from Jail

BONDSMEN ALL FROM ZION

Mitchell, Indifferent, Says he Likes Jail Life and Will Not Attempt to Get Bail at all

Friday noon of last week Mrs. Mitchell, connected with the death of Mrs. Greenhalgh by torture recently at Zion City, was released after having supplied $5,000 bail.

Her bondsmen were Alfred E. Bills, big Zion real estate man, George W. Sperry, Ira M. Sipes and Delos W. Davis, all said to be adherents of Overseer John A. Lewis.

Harold Mitchell, arch torturer according to the statement of Walter Greenhalgh, remained in jail. He stated after his wife's departure that he did not care to be bailed out and that the only reason Mrs. Mitchell deserted him was to take care of her children.

The children, three in number, are with his brother-in-law, John Erwin, of Zion City, said also to be a Mitchellite and a believer in the devil casting creed.

One, Flossie, is constantly ill with epileptic fits and the love of Mrs. Mitchell for this child drew her back to Zion City.

Walter Greenhalgh was also released under $1,500 bonds, his bondsmen being his father, Adam Greenhalgh, and Messrs. Sipes, Davis and Bills, as on the Mitchell bond.

The bondsmen of Mrs. Louise Schmidt were Karl Schmidt her husband, Rosa Graf and Mina Ekmann, in the sum of $1,500.

Bondsmen for Jennie Greenhalgh were her father, Adam Greenhalgh, John Bateman and Philip Humphreys, in the sum of $1,500.

"I am glad to be out again," said Walter Greenhalgh. "Sheriff Griffin makes things good for us, but it is a prison after all and I dislike ever to go back. I do not think that we will suffer the extreme penalty, long imprisonment, for my mother's death."

QUIET WEDDING OF POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE

A quiet and happy wedding was the one which occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A, Runkel in Wheatland Wednesday forenoon. The bride was their daughter Florence, a well known teacher in the schools of Kenosha county, and the groom was Harry McDougall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McDougall of Wilmot.

The wedding ceremony took place at at 11:00 o'clock and was conducted in the presence of a small assemblage. Only members of the immediate families being present. The bride was attired in a gown of white silk and the groom wore the conventional black.

A minister from Burlington performed the ceremony after which a bountiful wedding dinner was served. In the afternoon the happy couple left for Jamestown on a brief honeymoon and incidently to visit the exposition.

The bride is a popular young lady who is well known throughout Kenosha County and is a prime favorite among her friends.

The groom is an energetic young man of exemplary habits and is worthy of the bride he has chosen, and both have a large circle of friends who unite in wishing them a happy journey through life.

On their return the young couple will settle down on the McDougall farm occupying the large house now being built to take the place of the home destroyed by fire last spring.

The News joins with their many friends in extending congratulations to the happy couple.

Certainly Irish.

The rocking chair brigade were discussing death and burial, their minds having been directed thereto by the passing of a funeral through the village street. Each one paused sufficiently long in her knitting to describe the kind of burial she would like, and the place where she would like to be buried. A recent but popular comer, who is suspected of having been born in the Emerald isle, waxed enthusiastic over the cemetery plot which she had bought for herself; she described the beautiful flowers she had already planted and the instructions she had given to the cemetery gardener. She had gotten everything in readiness, and could die at any time, knowing her grave would be all right. "Why," she wound up, "when I die all I have to do is to walk out there."

SHOTS FIRED BY BINGHAM

Game Warden of Lake District has Trouble With Chicago Doctor

There was excitement at Fox Lake Sunday when a Dr. Hunt, of Chicago, fell into the lake twice while duck hunting, was rescued once and saved himself once; when he was later thrown into the lake by Game Warden Bingham after they had got into a fight; when Game Warden Bingham fired his gun twice, presumably at Hunt and when the game warden lost his revolver in the lake.

Hunt had gone to the lake hunting and among the places he visited was the "bum boat" of Scotty, a well known charactor. It is said he loaded up on some of the stuff which Shorty sells and when he left the place he was unable to handle himself or his boat. Pushing through the reeds towards the Mineola hotel, Hunt is said to have lost his balance and fell into the water.

Arriving at the Mineola, Hunt got into a disputs with Bingham and Bingham is said to have taken his push pole. Hunt protested and wanted the pole back but Bingham refused. Hunt then took one of Bingham's boots and thus the men got into a bad wrangle.

Bingham is said to have leveled his gun at Hunt and let two discharges go. Neither is said to have taken effect, but it is said Hunt had a close call. Then the men came together and in the end Hunt was shoved into the lake. In the wrangle, Bingham's revolver dropped into the water and was not recovered.

The whole affair caused great excitement at the lake and the reported action of the game warden is such that, if proven to the state game warden, he may face trouble and, perhaps, lose his job.

MRS. AMES PASSED AWAY AT WAUKEGAN

At 9:30 o'clock Friday evening at the home of her sister, Dr. Doyen of Waukeoccurred the death of Mrs. Truman Ames a former resident of Waukegan.

Her death was due to Cerrebral hemmorrhages the third one of which occurred last Wednesday. A fall caused the first trouble which later developed into the ailment which caused her demise.

Mr. and Mrs. Ames were formerly residents of Waukegan wher Mr. Ames was employed by the Waukegan Abstract Company. About three years ago they decided to locate in the west and accordingly they located in Miles City, Montana.

Mrs. Ames had been in poor health for some time and Dr. Doyen, went west to care for her, About a month ago Dr. Doyen brought her sister back to Waukegan thinking to save her from heart failure from which she was suffering while at her mountain home. Her husband who had remained in Montana was sent for and came east with all possible speed.

Mrs. Ames was about forty-two years of age and was well known throughout the county especially in Waukegan and Antioch and vicinity, the former place having been her home for many years and having many relatives residing here.

The deceased was a neice of Mrs. Dr. Ames of this place, and a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Phoebe Ames, besides having many other relatives here.

The funeral was held in Hickory church Tuesday and the remains were intered in Hickory cemetery.

FOSS FOR THE SENATE

Chicago Paper Says Petitions Have Been Circulated in Cities

THREE HUNDRED PETITIONS

Congressman Does Not Seem Anxious to Stem Rising Tide and May Yield to Persuasion of Friends

While the political caldron is seething in Springfield it has leaked out that a brand new Republican candidate for United States senator is being unobtrusively groomed in Chicago. The new entry is Congressman George Edmund Foss of the tenth district.

The evidence of the steps being taken to bring out Mr. Foss as a candidate for the office to which Senator Albert J. Hopkins aspires to succeed himself came to light through the circulation of petitions calling on the congressman to enter the race. The information became current last week, but Mr. Foss could not be reached with an inquiry as to the authority of the report.

There is no disputing the fact, however, that Foss petitions for United Seates senator are in circulation. Thev are in the hands of friends of the congressman. So far their circulation has been confined to Evanston and in Chicago to Lake View. One of the circulators said 300 petitions had been distributed and that signatures are being actively solicited. One of the petitions that was exhibited in proof of the report bore the names of ten signers.

There has been more or less rumor of late that Mr. Foss is as willing as Barkis ever was. His name has been frequently mentioned by his friends as a senatorial possibility, and the congressman, so far as is known, has taken no steps to quell the incipient enthusiasm before it is too late. It is taken for granted, therefore, that he is aware of the circulation of the petitions and approves of the efforts being made in his behalf.

With the entry of Foss Chicago will be well represented in the senatorial race. Senator Hopkins lives in Aurora, but makes his living practicing law and politics principally in Chicago. William E. Mason, who is also a candidate for Mr. Hopkins' position, is a resident of Chicago.

The friends of Congressman Foss view him as the great compromise candidate on whom the rival faction can unite. How far the rival factions share this view remains to be seen. The Foss followers say they have received encouragement not only from Deneen lieutenants but from the Lorimer faction and from friends of Mayor Busse.

Courage and Dandyism.

There still exists in many minds the ridiculous notion that the man cannot be manly who pays more than the ordinary amount of attention to the adornment of his body. There is no greater mistake made than to believe that well dressed men must be effeminate. The Mystery OF Carney-Croft

By JOSEPH BROWN COOKE

(Copyright, 1907, by Story-Press Corporation.)

"How would it do to get your brother's own opinion and see how he feels?" I suggested. "Either you or I, or even both of us, might write him and put the matter clearly before him. If there is any good left in him—you will pardon me, Miss Carney, I hope, for I spoke very thoughtlessly—but he ought to come to his senses and decide for himself."

She looked up into my face, her eyes wet with tears, but with a wan smile that was evidently conjured up for the moment, and said, gently:

"You need not ask my forgiveness, Mr. Ware, for you always think and speak for the best, and my own feelings toward Jack are the same as yours. I have never mentioned his name to you before for I could not bear to think of those awful days he spent here after my father's death, and I am so glad that poor Annie did not see him then as I did. He knew that he was not fit for her to see and I must say that he showed himself to me only enough to enable us to arrange our business affairs. He seemed to understand the degradation of his position, and although I have never written to him in all these years, my heart warms to him now and I want to overlook it, but I cannot, oh I cannot, Mr. Ware."

"Would you like me to write to him myself?" I asked. "I could hardly explain matters in a telegram, and while I never know exactly where he is I have reason to believe that he is in the neighborhood of London or Paris. A letter to his bankers would reach him within a week or ten days and he could be here in a little more than a fortnight."

"You know best," she murmured, resting her head on her hand and wiping her eyes slowly. "You know best and must act according to your own judgment. It seems to me that we ought to send for him, if only for Annie's sake, but I leave it all to you."

Her feelings overwhelmed her again, but as soon as she could calm herself, she went on: "Perhaps I have been wrong myself in not trying to help him and make him see the position in which he has placed himself, but when he was here I could not bring myself to do it."

I remembered Miss Weston's impassioned statement that no one connected with the mysterious happenings at Carney-Croft had done any wrong or was in any way responsible for the present inexplicable condition of things, and, while I could not see how John Carney could have any possible connection with the affair I grasped the frail straw offered by this suggestion and, in my anxiety to calm Miss Carney, I made the most of it that I could.

"I know nothing of your brother's life while he was away," I began, "and, while, of course, I do not count him blameless, I can assure you that you have nothing to regret on your part. You know things of this kind begin slowly and insidiously and—"

"Oh, no!" she interrupted, vehemently, "it was a cowardly way to act, at best, and, as I first understood it, it was worse than cowardly. You can imagine my feelings when I thought it was all for a mere lover's quarrel and then—then, when I knew the whole story, I could not bring myself to view it in a much better light, although, of course, my sympathies all went out to him. It was not the act of such a man as I had always thought Jack to be. I had looked up to him and respected him all my life and it almost broke my heart—it almost broke my heart. You wouldn't do such a thing, Mr. Ware, I know, and even if you try to hide your real opinion of him, I understand too well what it is—and he is my brother—my only brother!"

She sobbed convulsively for some minutes, while I stood like a fool by her side, keeping down, as best I could, the words that were uppermost in my heart and then, suddenly, she arose and said, abruptly:

"I have kept you too long, I fear, but this was troubling me so that I simply had to tell it to some one. I think you had better write to my brother at once and it will have to rest with him whether he comes or not. Good night."

I followed her with my eyes as she entered the house and walked slowly up the stairs.

CHAPTER XIX.

A Trail Discovered.

Another sleepless night followed, but long before the morning broke I had formed an opinion of myself and my conduct that was in no way flattering to either. To be sure, I had been sincere in every thought and act, and when, at times, I had felt and believed that Miss Carney loved me, I had soon argued myself into an opposite way of thinking on the ground, as I have said before, that her feelings toward me were influenced and magnified by her present anxiety and distress. Now, however, after considering the matter through the long hours of the night until my brain fairly reeled and I was sick at heart at the thought of my brutal behavior, I was at last able to see things in a right light.

Miss Carney had given me every evidence of her regard that she could give and still preserve her dignity and womanliness. She had doubtless realized the difficulties of my position, and she had taken into account that her brother's absence served as an added reason for my silence, and so she had met me more than half way and yet I had remained silent.

She had even permitted me to kiss her hand, and then, on the first occasion that offered, she had given me an opportunity to say the words that I owed to her if she would preserve her self-respect and not consider that I had trifled with her in a most cruel and unmanly way. And still I had remained silent, in an egotistical belief that my attitude was chivalrous and commendable when, in fact, it was only Quixotic and brutally unkind.

Now, she could only think that I did not love her, for surely she could not conceive that a sane man would have acted the part I did on the veranda unless he regarded her almost with indifference.

I rose and paced the floor until my head throbbed, hating myself and trying to smother my emotions until the morning came and I could go to her and beg her forgiveness.

As the day began to dawn a cold gray light spread itself over the fields, showing the hoar-frost on the grass and bringing clearly into view many distant objects which stood out sharply in the crisp autumn air.

I glanced from my window and saw what appeared to be two people walking slowly down the hillside in the direction of the Bruce cottage. A hasty scrutiny through my field glasses confirmed my suspicion and it seemed that one figure, that of a man, carried an implement like a spade or shovel, while the other was evidently a woman of about the widow's size and general appearance.

I dressed rapidly, and, slipping out of the house, made my way as quickly as I could to the point where I had seen them passing, feeling sure that I would have no difficulty in following their trail through the frost-covered grass.

It was all I had expected, and I walked rapidly up the hill, retracing the path they had made, and, occasionally leaving the trail where it led too directly through the open, and slinking along in the shadow of the hedges until I could again take it up with safety.

About half way up the incline I turned and looked down toward the Bruce cottage, from the chimney of which a black column of smoke was pouring and whose windows were brightly lighted as if something of importance was going on within.

As I looked, and I had taken the precaution to bring my binoculars with me, a man emerged from the house and I had no difficulty in making him out to be Jenks, the stage driver. He was followed in a moment by Mrs. Bruce and the two stood for some time in earnest conversation, after which the man strode rapidly down the road and the woman reentered the house.

It had seemed to me that the widow and Jenks were quarreling, for, during their talk, he had gesticulated violently and shown every evidence of extreme earnestness, if not of actual anger; but they must have come to some sort of an agreement at last, for he waved his hand pleasantly as he left her and she returned his salutation by throwing him a kiss as coyly as a schoolgirl.

The first thing the woman did after entering the house was to extinguish the lights, no longer necessary, as the rays of the sun began to touch the hilltops, and I was just lowering my glass when I caught a fleeting glimpse of another man, darting around the corner of the building and disappearing behind the woodpile. I watched in vain for him to show himself again, but he did not, and finally, I turned and followed the trail once more, making all possible haste, lest I should lose it when the frost disappeared.

The foot prints led me up on the hill and around to the side away from the house and, at length, became lost in a grove of hemlocks under which there was no tell-tale frost. For a time it seemed that my efforts were to prove of no avail, and that I might as well return home, but the more I thought of the matter the more I was convinced that these people had been out for no good purpose, and that it was my duty to learn, if possible, what mischief they had been contriving at this early hour and where they had been.

In fact, I suddenly realized that I had not taken a proper interest in the mysterious happenings at Carney-Croft and that while it had seemed quite enough to bring them to a standstill, as far as outward appearances were concerned, they were, in reality, of far too great importance to let pass so easily.

Miss Weston's connection with the affair gave a new aspect to it, of course, and while I was bound by my word to respect her secret there was nothing in my promise to her to prevent me from using every legitimate means to find out all that I could on my own account and make use of such knowledge as I might acquire in any way that would best serve my purposes without reacting on her.

I Stood Spell-Bound with Fear.

I wandered about, more or less aimlessly, in the grove until, as I was on the point of leaving in chagrin, I again discovered the tracks in the frost leading across a little open space from another and denser grove near by. I plunged at once into this and had no trouble in directing my steps through the underbrush, which was broken and bent in many places and showed plainly the course taken by the man and woman but a short time before.

After going on in this way for some little distance I suddenly found myself in a small clearing under the branches of the overtowering trees, and saw, to my horror, an oblong space of newly turned earth which bore every resemblance in size and general appearance to a grave.

For several minutes I stood spellbound with fear and dread and then, summoning up all my courage and with a cold sweat standing out on my body, I began to dig down in the soft brown earth, using a stick that was lying near by, and even my hands, to remove the stones and larger clumps of soil.

About a foot below the surface I came upon a bundle wrapped in cloths of the same kind in every way as those found by MacArdel and myself on the night when we first saw the ghosts and shot at Jenks.

I could bear no more for the moment, and quaking visibly, I rose from the ground and leaned against a tree for support. Then, for the first time, I saw that there were many other little mounds surrounding the one I had opened and—but I had reached the limit of my endurance, and, pallid face, I dashed madly down the hill toward Carney-Croft.

A Young Composer.

Rachel, aged 12, wrote an composition on wild flowers in which she praised the arbutus, the liverwort, the spring beauty, the blood root, and all of the other blossoms of dell and dale. But she wrote on both sides of her sheet of paper, and when she asked her father, who was an editor, to publish her article, he called her attention to that fact.

"You've written on both sides of your paper," said he.

"Well," was the reply, "and don't you print on both sides of yours?"

ALL THINGS IN PROPORTION.

Invalid's Meal Evidently Had Not Increased Good Humor.

For many weeks the irritable merchant had been riveted to his bed by typhoid fever. Now he was convalescing. He clamored for something to eat, declaring that he was starving.

"To-morrow you may have something to eat," promised the doctor. The merchant realized that there would be a restraint to his appetite, yet he saw, in vision, a modest, steaming meal placed at his bedside.

"Here is your dinner," said the nurse next day, as she gave the glowering patient a spoonful of tapioca pudding, "and the doctor emphasizes that everything else you do must be in the same proportion."

Two hours later the nurse heard a frantic call from the bed chamber.

"Nurse," breathed the man heapily, "I want to do some reading, bring me a postage stamp."

HAVE CRAZE FOR FORMULA.

Smokers Follow Fashions in the Use of Tobacco.

"Make me up a package of tobacco according to the formula used by Edwin Booth," said the man with a southern accent. "That is the third man who has asked for that kind of tobacco to-day," said the dealer. "It is strange that people from remote parts of the country as well as New Yorkers make a fad of buying the same brand of tobacco that Booth smoked. And it isn't always the Booth mixture that they want. I have filed away the formulas for mixing the favorite tobacco of many famous persons. Smokers the country over have heard of this collection of recipes and one feature of every man's trip to New York is to try a pipeful of some big man's favorite tobacco. In most cases this special mixture is so strong that the nerves of the average smoker cannot stand it. He has to give up after a few pipefuls and go back to a popular mixture, but he has the satisfaction of having had the experience."—The New York Sun.

The "Mound City."

St. Louis rejoices in the sobriquet of Mound City from the fact that the original settlers found there many elevations which it is supposed were relics of that strange people who dwelt in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and are known to modern times only as the Mound Builders. No adequate explanation has yet been found of their strange mode of leaving memorials of their existence. The limestone bluffs on which a part of St. Louis stands furnish a solid foundation for the business buildings.

Held Up.

"Stop!" shouted the man on the country road, holding up a warning hand. Muttering something about rural cops, the automobilist obeyed.

"Turn around and come back to town with me," said the stranger. "You were going at least 35 miles an hour."

"You're a constable, I suppose," said the automobilist, with a covert sneer, when they had reached the village.

"Me?" replied the passenger. "No, I'm a farmer and had to come into town when all the teams was busy. Nice growing weather? Thanks. Good-by."

Selling a Rat.

You have probably read or heard that the best way to rid a house of rats is to catch one and fasten a bell about its neck. A boy in Delaware tried the experiment two months ago. He was badly bitten in making the bell fast, but he turned the rat loose and expected the tinkling of that bell would have great results. It did have. In the first place, the rat who wore it was constantly on the move all night, and the tinkling bell kept the family awake, and in the next the sounds brought scores of new rats to the house. Instead of being afraid of the bell, they were charmed with the music. Had the boy tied a harmonica to another rat's tail, the rodents would have had a dance every night.

She Was Willing.

"Yes," says the husband, "I have consented to accept the nomination."

"I am so glad the party is beginning to recognize your merit," beams the wife.

"Now my dear," the husband continues, "you know that political affairs are not love feasts, by any means. You must expect to see me vilified and attacked in a scandalous manner. No doubt the opposition will try to dig up sensational rumors about me, and all that sort of thing, but you must not——"

"Well," she interrupts, "I am really glad of it. You have always been strangely silent about whether or not you ever were engaged to anyone before you met me."

The Way of the Child.

A small boy who had recently passed his fifth birthday was riding in a car with his mother, when they were asked the customary question: "How old is the boy?" After being told the correct age, which did not require a fare, the conductor passed on to the next person.

The boy sat quite still as if pondering over some question, and then, concluding that full information had not been given, called loudly to the conductor, then at the other end of the car: "And mother's 31!"

A Definition of Success.

How have the hypothetical scientists and the exponents of unbelief benefited themselves or humanity at large by sowing the seeds of doubt broadcast in the world? The real scientists do not fall in this category, for they are believers in the real sense of the word; they know too much, they have seen too many mysterious manifestations of the Divine creative power. Now, those who have disposed of the Bible and all evidences of inspiration, have written a great many books and some of them have won what the world at large lightly calls fame. According to the ordinary measures that are applied in such cases, they have been extremely successful, but real success means the benefit of humanity in some form or other. If no such benefits can be shown as the result of their labors, their success is not equal to that achieved by the direst poverty and the deepest ignorance. — Joel Chandler, in Uncle Remus' Magazine.

WHEN A "HUNCH" HELD GOOD.

Chinese Laundry Ticket Suggested a Bet on "Wing Ting."

Kay Spence, a well-known horseman of Mexico, Mo., won $1,000 at the Louisville, Ky., race meeting a short time ago as the result of a "hunch." Mr. Spence has a large breeding stable of "runners" near Mexico, and attends all the big racing events in the country. Not long since he was in Louisville and entered the betting ring to see what odds were being offered on the various entries. He found that Joaquin was the favorite at even money, and pulled his wallet from his pocket, intending to bet on that horse. His attention was attracted by something that fell from his wallet to the ground, and he stooped and picked it up. It was a Chinese laundry ticket. He looked at the "books" again and found that there was an entry with a Chinese name, Wing Ting, at ten to one. That settled it, for he considered he had received a "hunch" that could not be overlooked. Wing Ting won handily. Needless to say, those who backed the favorite considered Spence the seventh son of the seventh son.—Kansas City Star.

"BOO-HOO"

Shouts a Spanked Baby.

A Doctor of Divinity, now Editor of a well-known Religious paper, has written regarding the controversy between Collier's Weekly and the Religious Press of the Country and others, including ourselves. Also regarding suits for libel brought by Collier's against us for commenting upon its methods.

These are his sentiments, with some very emphatic words left out.

"The religious Press owes you a debt of gratitude for your courage in showing up Collier's Weekly as the "Yell-Oh Man." Would you care to use the inclosed article on the "Boo Hoo Baby" as the "Yell-Oh Man's successor?"

"A contemporary remarks that Collier's has finally run against a solid hickory "Post" and been damaged in its own estimation to the tune of $750,000.00."

"Here is a publication which has, in utmost disregard of the facts, spread broadcast damaging statements about the Religious Press and others and has suffered those false statements to go uncontradicted until, not satisfied after finding the Religious Press too quiet, and peaceful, to resent the insults, it makes the mistake of wandering into fresh field and butts its rattled head against this Post and all the World laughs. Even Christians smile, as the Post suddenly turns and gives it back a dose of its own medicine."

"It is a mistake to say all the World laughs. No cheery laugh comes from Collier's, but it cries and boo hoos like a spanked baby and wants $750,000.00 to soothe its tender, lacerated feelings."

"Thank Heaven it has at last struck a man with "back bone" enough to call a spade a "spade" and who believes in telling the whole truth without fear or favor."

Perhaps Collier's with its "utmost disregard for the facts," may say no such letter exists. Nevertheless it is on file in our office and is only one of a mass of letters and other data, newspaper comments, etc., denouncing the "yellow" methods of Collier's. This volume is so large that a man could not well go thru it under half a day's steady work. The letters come from various parts of America.

Usually a private controversy is not interesting to the public, but this is a public controversy.

Collier's has been using the "yellow" methods to attract attention to itself, but, jumping in the air, cracking heels together and yelling "Look at me" wouldn't suffice, so it started out on a "Holier Than Thou" attack on the Religious Press and on medicine.

We leave it to the public now, as we did when we first resented Collier's attacks, to say whether, in a craving for sensation and circulation, its attacks do not amount to a systematic mercenary hounding. We likewise leave it to the public to say whether Collier's, by its own policy and methods, has not made itself more ridiculous than any comment of ours could make it.

Does Collier's expect to regain any self-inflicted loss of prestige by demonstrating thru suits for damages, that it can be more artful in evading liability for libels than the humble but resentful victims of its defamation, or does it hope for starting a campaign of libel suits to silence the popular indignation, reproach and resentment which it has aroused.

Collier's can not dodge this public controversy by private law suits. It can not postpone the public judgment against it. That great jury, the Public, will hardly blame us for not waiting until we get a petit jury in a court room, before denouncing this prodigal detractor of institutions founded and fostered either by individuals or by the public, itself.

No announcements during our entire business career were ever made claiming "medicinal effects" for either Postum or Grape-Nuts. Medicinal effects are results obtained from the use of medicines.

Thousands of visitors go thru our entire works each month and see for themselves that Grape-Nuts contains absolutely nothing but wheat, barley and a little salt; Postum absolutely nothing but wheat and about ten per cent of New Orleans Molasses. The art of preparing these simple elements in a scientific manner to obtain the best food value and flavor, required some work and experience to acquire.

Now, when any publication goes far enough out of its way to attack us because our advertising is "medical," it simply offers a remarkable exhibition of ignorance or worse.

We do claim physiological or bodily results of favorable character following the adoption of our suggestions regarding the discontinuance of coffee and foods which may not be keeping the individual in good health. We have no advice to offer the perfectly healthful person. His or her health is evidence in itself that the beverages and foods used exactly fit that person. Therefore, why change?

But to the man or woman who is ailing, we have something to say as a result of an unusually wide experience in food and the result of proper feeding.

In the palpably ignorant attack on us in Collier's, appeared this statement,—"One widely circulated paragraph labors to induce the impression that Grape-Nuts will obviate the necessity of an operation in appendicitis. This is lying and potentially deadly lying."

In reply to this exhibition of—well let the reader name it, the Postum Co., says:

Let it be understood that appendicitis results from long continued disturbance in the intestines, caused primarily by undigested starchy food, such as white bread, potatoes, rice, partly cooked cereals and such.

Starchy food is not digested in the upper stomach but passes on into the duodenum, or lower stomach and intestines, where, in a healthy individual, the transformation of the starch into a form of sugar is completed and then the food absorbed by the blood.

But if the powers of digestion are weakened, a part of the starchy food will lie in the warmth and moisture of the body and decay, generating gases and irritating the mucous surfaces until under such conditions the whole lower part of the alimentary canal, including the colon and the appendix, becomes involved. Disease sets up and at times takes the form known as appendicitis.

When the symptoms of the trouble make their appearance, would it not be good, practical, common sense, to discontinue the starchy food which is causing the trouble and take a food in which the starch has been transformed into a form of sugar in the process of manufacture?

This is identically the same form of sugar found in the human body after starch has been perfectly digested.

Now, human food is made up very largely of starch and is required by the body for energy and warmth. Naturally, therefore, its use should be continued, if possible, and for the reasons given above it is made possible in the manufacture of Grape-Nuts.

In connection with this change of food to bring relief from physical disturbances, we have suggested washing out the intestines to get rid of the immediate cause of the disturbance.

Naturally, there are cases where the disease has lain dormant and the abuse continued too long, until apparently only the knife will avail. But it is a well-established fact among the best physicians who are acquainted with the details above recited, that preventative measures are far and away the best.

Are we to be condemned for suggesting a way to prevent disease by following natural methods and for perfecting a food that contains no "medicine" and produces no "medicinal effects" but which has guided literally thousands of persons from sickness to health? We have received during the years past upwards of 25,000 letters from people who have been either helped or made entirely well by following our suggestions, and they are simple.

If coffee disagrees and causes any of the ailments common to some coffee users quit it and take on Postum.

If white bread, potatoes, rice and other starch foods make trouble, quit and use Grape-Nuts food which is largely predigested and will digest, nourish and strengthen, when other forms of food do not. It's just plain old common sense.

"There's a Reason for Postum and Grape-Nuts.

REDUCTION OF RATES

Good Work Done by the Illinois Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

HIGH STANDARD IS ATTAINED

Governor Deneen Largely Responsible for the Findings of the Commission, Having Sat with It During Hearings.

Springfield, Oct. 15.—A notable tribute was paid the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission when the railroads of this state accepted the freight rate reduction of 1906 without any of the legal complications which have accompanied the attempts at rate reductions by the railroad commissions of other states.

Under the administration of Governor Deneen the Illinois commission has reached a standard that has attracted attention throughout the United States. W. H. Boys, of Streator, one of the leading attorneys of northern Illinois and formerly assistant attorney general, is chairman of the commission. Associated with him are B. A. Eckhart, of Chicago, and James A. Willoughby, of Belleville, both recognized as men of exceptional ability.

Commencing in March, 1902, and continuing until 1906, this board made an exhaustive investigation into the rates of freight charged in this state, and by order of the commission effective Jan. 1, 1906, reduced the rates on classes Nos. 1 to 5 inclusive (or merchandise classes) by 20 per cent., and by order of the commission of date July 1, 1906, reduced the rates on classes 6 to 10 inclusive (or carload classes and commodities) on a graded scale of from 5 to 15 per cent.

Governor Deneen sat with the commission during the later hearings in this case, and was largely responsible for its findings. The special report to the governor in this matter was published separately and made a volume of 102 pages.

Other Changes Requested.

On July 1, 1906, under the orders mentioned, the commission issued its revised schedules of reasonable maximum rates, and since that time has issued five supplements, making changes deemed advisable after investigation. The ever-changing conditions of commerce require frequent changes in classification, and there are now pending a large number of requests for changes and also classification of new articles, which will necessitate the issue of another supplement, or a new edition of the classification within a very short time. This also entails public hearings, at which all interested may be represented, to enable the commission to determine the reasonableness of the changes asked for.

On account of the large increase of mileage of both steam and interurban electric railroads a large number of crossing petitions have been filed with the commission. From unofficial information it became apparent that under the statute a large number of grade crossings were being installed by agreement. The commission, being impressed with the fact that a grade crossing is at all times dangerous, recommended that the statute be changed so that hereafter no grade crossing should be made except by decision of the commission. This recommendation was incorporated into the law at the last session of the legislature.

That the total expense of the separation of grades should not be assessed against the road seeking to cross, they under the statute being entitled to a crossing, and the separation of grade being a distinct advantage to the older road in relieving them of the element of danger, the commission was of the opinion that the senior company should participate in the expense. Accordingly, the commission made such a recommendation to the last session of the legislature. This recommendation also was adopted and made a part of the statute.

Use Interlocking Devices.

In the case of grade crossings the commission has insisted upon their protection by interlocking devices. In the earlier reports of this commission no mention is found of interlocking devices, but at the present time 311 crossings in this state are protected in this manner.

Within the last few years the farmers of this and a number of other states have decided that by forming corporations for the handling of their own grain they could save themselves the middlemen's commission, and market their product to much better advantage. For this purpose farmers' elevator companies were formed, which proceeded to build elevators at stations along the railroads of the state.

This aroused the antagonism of the elevator men all over the state, and a determined effort was made to keep the farmers from getting connection in the distribution of cars by the railwith the railroads for their elevator, and in the distribution of cars by the railroad companies. A number of such cases were brought before the commission to compel connections and to cease discrimination against the farmers in car distribution, notably the cases at Mason City, Shirley, Bolivia, and other places. In every instance brought before the commission it succeeded in getting track connection and in relieving the car situation.

Establish Uniform Inspection.

One of the important measures brought about by the commission on recommendation of the chief grain inspector at Chicago, was the amendment to the warehouse act, so that all elevators of class A should hereafter secure a license from the railroad and warehouse commission instead of as formerly from the circuit court, and also that all inspection departments in the state should be under the jurisdiction of one chief inspector.

This will bring the warehouses and the grain inspection department of the whole state under the immediate supervision of the commission and tend to bring about a more uniform system in the administration of this department. Already the benefits of new methods are felt, and unstinted praise is given for the benefits secured under the changes made.

Require Safety Appliances.

Under the present state administration has come the installation and enforcement of the safety appliance act.

At the request of and for the benefit of the railway employes of the state and the traveling public a law was enacted and approved May 12, 1905, providing for the attachment of safety appliance and power brakes to the railroad equipment, and providing also for an inspector of safety appliances to enforce its provisions, under the supervision and direction of the railroad and warehouse commission. This department has been very efficiently administered under the present inspector. During the last year he visited 130 cities and inspected 560 engines and 20,661 cars and traveled 8,740 miles in the discharge of his duties.

One of the most important duties with which the commission is charged is the collection of information and statistics relative to the conduct and operation of the railroad companies doing business in the state. In the performance of this duty the commission not only collects and tabulates the information required by law, but compiles a great deal of useful information not specifically named in the statute.

Seek to Limit Bond Issue.

It has been impressed upon the commission by the reports filed in recent years that some adequate protection ought to be afforded to investors in the railway security. In several states the railroad commissioners are charged with this duty, so that no issue of stock or bonds, or other evidence of indebtedness can be legally issued without its approval.

That such protection ought to be extended to investors in this state is demonstrated by the returns made by the railroads to this commission, in which the railway capital varies from $21,000 to over $460,000 per mile of road. The commission introduced a bill in the last legislature to place this matter in the commission's hands so that only on a proper showing could any additional indebtedness be placed upon any railway property in this state. This recommendation failed of enactment into a law.

Work of Commission.

During the last three or four years the commission has been more actively engaged than at any preceding time since its organization. During this time the formal proceedings before it had been as follows:

Protection of crossings, four cases.

Petitions for permission to cross, fifty-three cases.

Complaints, forty-five cases.

In all a total of 102 cases have been passed upon by the commission. This number but faintly represents the work of the commission, as in the case of new crossings the commission has first to visit the place of the proposed crossing and become conversant with all the conditions which surround it by personal investigation and thereafter to have a public hearing. In the matter of complaints, in a great many cases several hearings are necessary before they are finally closed.

The railroad and warehouse commission was originally organized July 1, 1871, under the provisions of "An Act to establish a board of railroad and warehouse commissioners, and prescribe their powers and duties." The board was directed to ascertain for the information of the people forty-one specific and different items regarding the business of the railroad companies of the state, such as capital stock, owners of stock, assets and liabilities, earnings and expenditures, etc.

Increase of Mileage.

In pursuance of this direction it found from the first report of this board that there was a total of 3,730 miles of main track and a total of all kinds of tracks of 5,066 miles. This has increased in the thirty-five years to July 1, 1906, to a mileage of main track, steam railroads, of 11,893 and of all classes of tracks to 20,543 miles, being an increase in main track mileage of 8,163 miles and increase of tracks of all classes of 20,478 miles.

Another very important matter in transportation matters has developed in the last thirty-five years, and that is the interurban electric railroad. This means of transportation was unknown at the date of the creation of this commission, but on July 1, 1906, in this state, there were 935 miles of main track of roads of this character, and of tracks of all classes a total of 1,187 miles.

In 1871 only nineteen companies reported to this commission. In 1906, 137 steam railroads and forty-three electric railroads made reports. It will easily be seen that on account of mileage alone and the compilation of statistics the business of the commission has largely increased.

CITY-BRED BOYS GOT A BAG OF "RABBITS"

BUT WHEN THEY DISPLAYED THEM IN PARLOR WOMEN WENT INTO HYSTERICS.

Port Jervis, N. Y.—Having been reared in the wilds of New York city, Charles, Herbert and William Cooper undertook to show the boys of North Branch, Sullivan county, how to trap a rabbit.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and their three sons, the oldest of whom, Charles, is 15, have been passing the summer at North Branch. The only "game" that had rewarded the boys' many hunting expeditions was a land turtle. Again and again they had vainly tried to catch a rabbit, which, they thought, burrowed under a big, flat rock in a meadow near their boarding house.

Youthful nimrods evolved a plan to catch that rabbit the other day. Taking the feedbag and the land turtle they went to the flat rock. Herbert and William firmly held the mouth of the feedbag over a hole on one side of the rock. Charles tied a bunch of oil-soaked waste to the turtle's tail, lighted the waste and started the turtle into the hole on the other side of the rock.

The Boys Opened the Bag.

Never did turtle make faster time.

"We've got the rabbit," joyously yelled Herbert and William, as something darted into the feedbag.

"And another one," cried Herbert, almost instantly.

"And another one yet," shouted William.

Carefully tying the mouth of the bag, lest the rabbits escape, the boys carried it home in triumph. They called all the boarders into the parlor, shut the doors and opened the bag.

Mrs. Cooper and another New York woman shrieked and fainted. A stout lady from Albany, screaming hysterically, made desperate attempts to climb atop the piano; three Brooklyn girls jumped on the center table. The two men who happened to be at home kept their wits and killed the three big black snakes that were squirming on the floor.

KIDNAPED BY A CYCLONE.

Strange Story of "Lost Charlie" Ross Is Outdone.

Des Moines, Ia.—Kidnaped by a cyclone 18 years ago to discover himself only within the past few days, Charles Bennett, of Villisea, Ia., has put the strange story of "lost Charlie" Ross out of commission.

Bennett's parents lived in Harrison county, Missouri. Old settlers there well remember that fatal cyclone which swept over the county 18 years ago. It left ruin and disaster in its wake. But in the little home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bennett it left uncontrollable grief.

When the storm struck the Bennett cottage it literally tore the house to flinders. The father and mother were separated. And the baby boy was picked up by the storm cloud and carried bodily mile after mile. Then the little chap was let down in the back yard of T. W. Hudson, a farmer, who was getting ready to move to Louisiana.

Hudson took the youngster with him to Louisiana. There he reared him as his own. And it was not until the supposed father and son quarreled the other day that Hudson told Bennett the remarkable story of his life. Bennett set forth to find himself. At a little town in Harrison county he discovered a clew to his parents. There an old settler named "Hank" Barnes told him the story. He discovered, soon after, a sister, Mrs. Benjamin Richardson, at Villisea, and a brother in Fairfield, Neb. The mother, who has long mourned the son as dead, is in California, and thither the victim of the cyclone will betake himself.

Skunk Causes Theater Panic.

Meriden, Conn.—A skunk entered the auditorium of the Hanover park summer theater the other night and rubbed against some open work hosiery. The awful cry of "Skunk!" rang out and the 800 persons in the audience were thrown into a panic. The narrow exits were soon blocked by men and women clamoring over a high railing to safety.

Patrolman Kelly, who is unfamiliar with skunks, tried to catch it. He did and retreated.

Frank McNabb, who had fled, returned to the theater with a club. Cornering the skunk he killed it by a blow on the head. He then went home by a circuitous route. The performance was called off.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The baseball season is practically over and the football season is at hand. Parents should take time by the forelock and lay in ample supplies of splints, arnica and sticking plaster.

Since Great Britain issued its imperial edict forbidding New Foundland to interfere with the American fishing vessels, Primier Bond must know how it feels to be properly spanked.

The army is anxious to show the President an exhibition of long range shooting at Fort Monroe. The President has been carried away with the prowess of the navy, and the army thinks it is its turn next.

The political situation continues to be fraught with interest. No Republican candidate can make that headway because of the feeling that the President may be induced to run again. The President is enjoying this situation to the utmost, both because there is only one candidate whom he desires to make headway and because he foresees an opportunity at the proper moment to turn his own popularity to the good of that candidate. When the proper time comes, Mr. Roosevelt will "sidestep" but he will do it in such a way that the mantle of his strength will fall gracefully onto the broad shoulders of William H. Taft.

In Mexico, Secretary Root is making a host of friends and doing everything possible to cement the friendly relations which already exist between the United States and her little sister republic to the south. The combined influence of the two nations is potent for good, as is shown by the responses of the Central American republics to the tender of good offices which came from President Roosevelt and Diaz, and there can be no question in the minds of persons who look at the situation without prejudice that the stronger bond of friendship which must follow from Mr. Root's visit will make for even greater good in the future.

It is one of the significant characteristics of the Japanese that no nation, unless possibly it be England, has profited from the important lessons which must have been afforded by the recent Russo-Japanese war One of the most important questions which has confronted army and navy officers for a long time is the comparative effect of different styles of projectiles on the armor of battleships. The Japanese enjoyed ample opportunity to learn the effect of their explosive shells and armor piercing projectiles in the late war and they doubtless acquired invaluable knowledge but they have been careful not to impart any information on the subject worth having to the United States, or in fact, to any other nation, unless possibly is be Great Britain.

There is every reason to expect the most gratifying results from the current trips of Secretary Taft and Secretary Root. In Japan Secretary Taft is carrying out the policy of the administration with that rare tact and good humor which constitute one of his greatest faculties, demonstrating to the Japanese that the United States entertains the friendliest feelings toward the flowery kingdom, despite the fact that this country cannot accommodate great numbers of Japanese laborers without upsetting local labor conditions. No nation on earth would be willing to permit great influxes of foreign labor, disturbing home conditions and antagonizing her own workmen, regardless of the extent of friendly feeling which she might entertain for the country from which that labor came, and the United States is no exception to the rule.

The President, during his recent brief stay in the national capital, stated with characteristic firmness that the battleship fleet would make the proposed cruise to the Pacific. The President's purpose in making the announcement so forcefully was obviously to set at rest the scolding and speculation of certain newspapers regarding the coming cruise. The announcement has, however, failed of its purpose and the papers the President had in mind have only begun more violently to voice their protests and demands that "an indignant public" join them in their feeble clamor against a move which is regarded by a majority of Americans as a wise one. One newspaper, the "common scold of New York City," has undertaken to demonstrate the extent to which the prospective cruise is condemned by conducting a poll of members of Congress on the subject. Thus far, about one fourth of the membership of the House has been heard from and there is hardly a dissenting voice in the number. Even the Democrats are awake to the benefits which will result from the cruise and for once refuse to be led into a ridiculous position. A prominent naval officer has recently called attention to the fact that not a cross word has been heard from Japan since the purpose of the President in sending the fleet to the Pacific has become known, and as it is more than likely that the diplomacy of the administration will soon be taxed to the utmost to secure a Japanese exclusion treaty, the forceful effect of the fleet in Pacific waters may prove of incalculable aid.

OBITUARY

On the 30th day of September, 1907 occurred the death of Sidney F. Hunting, a well known and highly respected resident of Hickory, who passed away at his home at Hickory on the above mentioned date. the cause of his demise being Bright's Disease. About five weeks previous to his death Mr. Hunting suffered a stroke of paralysis from the effects of which he never fully recovered.

Sidney F. Hunting was born near Rochester, New York in the year of 1840 and passed away at his home at Hickory, Ill, September 30, 1907, at the age of 67 years.

He was married the first day of March 1862 to Adelade L. Sanborn at Pembroke, New York, and came to the state of Illinois to reside in the year of 1871.

He was a good citizen a man highly respected by all who knew him and one who will be greatly missed from the community.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Helen A. Scoville, of Waukegan, four grandsons, Willoughby Scoville of Seattle, Washington, Alva, James, and Everett, of Waukegan, one great grand daughter, Ambra Helen Scoville, and by one sister, Mrs. Laura Swift of Northern Michigan. Besides these relatives he leaves many friends who sincerely mourn his loss and who extend their sympathy to the bereaved family.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank those who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our sister, and especially the singers and the lodges who furnished many beautiful flowers. Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Hoysrodt

Reasons for Unhappiness.

There are three reasons for unhappiness: Having what you don't want, wanting what you can't get and getting what you want. The last is the worst because we can blame none but ourselves.

Does your back ache? Do you feel tired and drowsy and lacking in ambition? If so, there is something wrong with your kidneys. DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills relieve backache, weak kidneys and inflammation of the bladder. A week's treatment 25c. Sold by J. H. Swan.

A Noble Idea.

Just to be good, to keep life pure from degrading elements, to make it constantly helpful in little way to those who are touched by it, to keep one's spirit always sweet and avoid all manner of petty anger and irritability—that is an idea as noble as it is difficult.—Edward Howard Griggs.

You never have any trouble to get children to take Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. They like it because it tastes nearly like maple sugar. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is a safe, sure and prompt remedy for coughs and colds, and is good for every member of the family. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Time's Changes.

No doubt it is still an unsatisfactory world that mars the roadside with tawdry advertisements of drugs and food; but less than two centuries ago, remember, the place of these boards was taken by gibbets and crow-pecked, tattered corpses swinging in the wind, and the heads of dead gentlemen rotted in the rain on Temple Bar.—The Grand Magazine.

The Fool and His Laughs.

"The fool," wrote Burne-Jones in one of his letters, "has three laughs. He laughs at what is good, he laughs at what is bad and he laughs at what he does not understand."

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold cure and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Her Way.

A woman always wants a man to tell her everything, although she knows she will be unhappy if he does.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by J. H. Swan.

TAKES HIS VACATION ALONE.

Hard Worker Brings Arguments to Support His Position.

"Am I justified, or not," said a married man, "in going off alone on my vacation? I think I am, the wife agrees with me; but I confess the neighbors shrug their shoulders. The case stands like this: I work hard all the year, ten full hours a day; and when I come home at night, there's the wife with her worries, and there are the children with their noisy play and their noisy quarrels. So for 50 continuous weeks—and on my brief fortnight's vacation I need a change from all that, a complete change. Therefore I go off alone to the mountains. I fish all day, and in the evening, dressed in my evening suit. I talk with beautiful young women in the hotel corridors. I want a change, I get it, and I return home a new man. But with the wife and kids along, I'd return home the same man."

Trial catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Umbrellas as Magnets.

Umbrellas of modern make, said Prof. Silvanus Thompson, in his latest lecture at the Royal Institution, are very magnetic, says Home Notes. A person standing outside the shop window of an optician and holding such an umbrella would see the needles of the compasses begin to move.

We Trust Doctors

If you are suffering from impure blood, thin blood, debility, nervousness, exhaustion, you should begin at once with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the Sarsaparilla you have known all your life. Your doctor knows it, too. Ask him about it.

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia, and thus preventing the Sarsaparilla from doing its best work. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. Act gently, all vegetable.

Maltese Fish Buys.

In Malta, a fish boy, who sells the fish his father catches, carries a big basket on his back and in his hands two round flat basins, one of which he balances upon his head. Gradually his burden lightens and finally he tosses his empty basins into his emptied basket and stops to play on his way home.

How to Make It Attractive.

If virtue could be marked down to about 98 cents from one dollar there would be a rush for it.

Speaking of Powder.

Yeast—Don't you think there is a great difference in the way men and women enjoy the Fourth of July? Crimsonbeak—Why, yes; the women use powder, but make no noise about it.—Yonkers Statesman.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good!! Hereafter for this very reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by J. H. Swan, druggist. 50c.

MITCHELL TO QUIT JOB

MINERS' PRESIDENT WILL NOT RUN FOR REELECTION.

HIS HEALTH IS TOO POOR

Announcement Is Made in United Mine Workers' Journal—Has Been Head of Organization Since 1898.

Indianapolis, Ind.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, announced in the current issue of the United Mine Workers' Journal that he will not be a candidate for reelection as president. He says in his announcement that he does not regard himself as well enough to attend properly to the office. None of the executive officers of the organization was in the city Thursday, but it is said at headquarters that Mr. Mitchell will finish his present term as president, which expires April 1 of next year.

Mr. Mitchell underwent a surgical operation about six months ago and it is said that he has not fully recovered and that it is possible it will be necessary to perform another operation. He went to Chicago Tuesday and expected to go from there to La Salle, Ill., Thursday, to consult with a surgeon in regard to the advisability of another operation.

His Formal Announcement.

Mr. Mitchell's announcement is as follows:

"To the Officers and Members of the U. M. W. of A.—Greeting: Inasmuch as notices calling for nominations are being sent out from the office of the secretary and in order that all local unions and members thereof may be in position to express their choice for the office of president, I herewith announce that I shall not be a candidate for the presidency of your organization.

"I am prompted to arrive at this decision because I believe that I am no longer well enough to give your interests the consideration their importance demands.

"I shall explain in greater detail in my annual report to our coming convention the causes which impel me to give up the high office to which you have elected me for so many years.

"I thank you for the confidence you have reposed in me and I beg you to believe that the advancement of my craft has been my highest ambition.

"JOHN MITCHELL,
"President U. M. W. of A."

Nominations Due November 5.

The nominations to which Mr. Mitchell refers are to reach the international headquarters in this city not later than November 5 from the various locals of the organization.

The referendum vote on the election must reach headquarters not later than 20 days prior to the convention, which will be held in this city in January of next year. Mr. Mitchell's term, however, does not expire until April 1.

Mr. Mitchell has been president of the United Mine Workers of America since 1898.

John Mitchell in Hospital.

Springfield, Ill. — John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, entered the hospital at La Salle, Ill., Saturday and it is understood that he will submit to an operation for appendicitis in the course of a few days, when his condition becomes more favorable.

CUBS ARE WORLD CHAMPIONS

WIN PENNANT BY BEATING THE DETROITS FOUR TIMES.

Final Game Captured by Score 2 to 0 —Mordecai Brown's Great Pitching—Division of Receipts.

Detroit, Mich. — Chicago's Champions are world's champions as well as twice champions, and for the first time in baseball history the big pennant, symbolic of everything that is best in the nation's greatest sport, will float over Chicago's National league ball park next season.

For Chance's warriors made themselves world beaters beyond all possibility or mischance Saturday by winning their fourth straight victory over Detroit's American league champions. The score was 2 to 0, and that put four knots in the Tiger's tail.

For Mordecai Brown was reserved the honor of driving home the final spike in the big bunting, and well did he reward Manager Chance for reserving him for that high seat in the hall of fame.

From start to finish the final struggle was fast, fierce and furious. Jennings' men never stopped hitting the ball with all their might, trying to wipe out the small margin of two runs which the Cubs established early in the day, once more entirely because of their greater speed. But Brown was invincible in the pinches, and was given unbeatable and absolutely perfect support by every man on the team.

With a total attendance of 78,068 for the series, the gross receipts amounted to over $101,000, as compared to gross receipts of over $106,000 for six games in Chicago last year.

The players' share of the receipts amounts to $54,933.39, which in round numbers exceeds last year's pool by $21,000, the Sox and Cubs sharing in only four games last fall with small crowds at the start instead of the finish as this year. Of the players' pool this year the Cubs' share is $32,960.34 and the Tigers' share $21,973.36, on the new basis of dividing 60 per cent. to the winners and 40 per cent. to the losers.

TO ATTEND TRUST CONFERENCE.

Delegates for Illinois Are Appointed by Gov. Deneen.

Springfield, Ill. — The following delegates were appointed Friday by Gov. Deneen to represent the state of Illinois at the National Trust conference to be held in Chicago October 23: John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of American; William D. Ryan, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois District United Mine Workers of America; Charles Ridgley, Springfield; Prof. James W. Garner, University of Illinois; Charles Whitney, Waukegan; Benson Wood, Effingham; Dr. Edmund J. James, president University of Illinois; John V. Farwell, Jr.; John G. Shedd, A. C. Bartlett, B. A. Eckhart, Alfred L. Baker, George W. Perkins, president Cigarmakers' union; Harry Pratt Judson, president University of Chicago; E. R. Wright, president Illinois Federation of Labor; Marvin Hughitt, president Chicago & Northwestern railway; A. J. Earling, president Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway; Franklin MacVeagh, John S. Miller, W. J. Calhoun, Abram W. Harris, president Northwestern upniversity; Charles G. Dawes, former comptroller of the currency.

LUSITANIA SETS NEW RECORDS.

Crosses in Four Days, 20 Hours, Averaging Nearly 24 Knots.

New York.—The Cunarder Lusitania, with practically all the transatlantic records to her credit, arrived abeam the Sandy Hook lightship at 1:25 a. m. Friday.

The time for the trip from Daunt's Rock to the Sandy Hook light, the official course over which the speed trials were made, was four days, 20 hours. The last day's run was apparently the fastest of the trip, the giant liner hitting up her speed to 25 knots an hour over a smooth sea with little wind to interfere with her.

The Lusitania's time averages almost exactly 24 knots an hour for the entire trip. Her arrival at 1:20, or five minutes earlier than she passed the lightship, would have made her speed exactly 24 knots.

Cassie Chadwick Is Dead.

Columbus, O.—Mrs. Cassie Chadwick, whose amazing financial transactions culminated in the wrecking of an Oberlin bank, died in the women's ward at the Ohio penitentiary Thursday night at 10:15.

Mrs. Chadwick had been in a comatose condition for some hours previous to her death and the end came peacefully. No friends or relatives waited at her bedside. Her son, Emil Hoover, had been summoned from Cleveland, but he arrived 15 minutes after she expired.

Merchant Crushed Under Auto.

Morenci, Mich.—Arthur Onweller, a merchant of Lyons, O., was killed in an automobile accident Sunday afternoon, five miles east of this city. Mr. Onweller had purchased a new automobile and was taking his first ride in it. His wife and two children were in the machine with him. While driving at fair speed he lost control of the machine in some way and it ran into a deep ditch, turning turtle and crushing him to death beneath it. Mrs. Onweller and one of the children, a boy, were hurt.

SMALL IS TURNED DOWN

NEW YORK TELEGRAPHERS CALL ON PRESIDENT TO RESIGN.

Though He Wishes to Call Off the Strike, Locals in Many Cities Vote to Remain Out.

New York.—The New York local of the Commercial Telegraphers' union at a meeting Sunday voted unanimously to continue the strike against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

The vote was taken upon the suggestion of President Small who, in messages to subordinate officers Saturday pointed out the inability of the general assembly to further finance the strike, and recommended that locals in the various cities vote upon the advisability of the men returning to work.

The meeting was characterized by bitter exchanges between President Small and the other speakers. The latter charged the national leader with inconsistency in first claiming that the strike would be successfully financed and Saturday admitting that the general assembly was without funds; and with having conducted the fight in a half-hearted, dilatory way.

Small tried to explain his position, but was frequently interrupted by hisses. When he suddenly left the hall in the midst of the speechmaking, cries of "Resign" followed him. Saturday night Small issued a statement in which he said he was willing to continue the strike if the men insisted.

When the meeting opened, President Small was given the floor and said: "I am not here to make an argument for or against continuing the strike, but merely to explain why I called for a vote of the locals on the proposition. Saturday Commissioner Neill informed me that President Clowry had told him that further negotiations were futile. I believe what they say. Our funds are quite exhausted."

Percy Thomas and Daniel Russell replied to Small, scoring him for neglect and incapacity.

Reports received showed that the local unions in Baltimore, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and other cities voted to continue the strike until all demands have been granted.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IS CITED.

Young of Minnesota May Be Punished for Contempt of Court.

St. Paul, Minn.—Edward T. Young, attorney general of Minnesota, was served with an order Friday issued by Federal Judge Lochren to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. The alleged contempt consisted of mandamus proceedings brought in the district court of Ramsey county to compel the railroads to comply with the commodity rate law passed by the last legislature, the enforcement of which has been temporarily enjoined by the federal court.

Santa Fe Road Guilty.

Los Angeles, Cal.—After brief deliberation the jury in the case of the Santa Fe Railway company, charged with rebating shipments, Friday rendered a verdict of guilty on all counts enumerated in the indictments found by the grand jury.

The maximum fine for the offenses charged is $1,100,000 and the minimum is $66,000.

Sensational Shooting in Alabama.

Huntsville, Ala.—A sensational shooting occurred Friday near New Market, the victim being John Fanning, a prominent citizen, who was fatally wounded by Dr. A. C. Allen. Dr. Allen surrendered to the sheriff.

Rochefort Goes to La Patrie.

Paris.—Henri Rochefort, the well-known French journalist, Friday, at the age of 77, severed his connection with the Interanssigeant, which he founded in 1880, and assumed the editorship of the Patrie.

MARINE OFFICER KILLS SELF.

Strange Death of Lieut. J. N. Sutton at Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md. — Second Lieut. James N. Sutton, Jr., United States marine corps, is dead at the Naval academy marine barracks, his death resulting from a bullet fired into the right side of the head.

From the best information obtained, Sutton in company with Second Lieuts. R. E. Adams and E. P. Roelker, returned to the marine camp at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, after having attended a dance given at the academy. Shortly afterwards Sutton is said to have been discovered on the road near by with a revolver in his right hand and several fellow officers attempted to disarm him. This they succeeded in doing, but not before the weapon was discharged in some manner, and Lieuts. Adams and Roelker received slight wounds. Quick as a flash, it is said, Sutton took from his blouse another revolver and with this fired the fatal shot into his brain. Lieut. Sutton was 22 years old and the son of James N. Sutton, of Portland, Ore. He was formerly a midshipman of the present senior class, but resigned in his third class year.

NINETEEN BODIES RECOVERED.

Sole Survivor of Foundered Steamer Cyprus Is Second Mate.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. — The bodies of nineteen members of the crew of the steamer Cyprus, which foundered in Lake Superior Friday night off Deer Park, have been recovered and brought to this city. Second Mate C. J. Pitz, of Manitowoc, Wis., the sole survivor of the 22 people who were on the ship, arrived here Sunday afternoon on the tug Schenck, which brought the bodies from the Deer Park life saving station.

The bodies of Capt. F. B. Huyick and two firemen, whose names are not known, are still missing.

Mate Pitz has somewhat recovered from the exposure and the battering he received from the waves while being washed ashore on a life raft.

MAN KILLED, DOZEN HURT.

Accident to Norfolk & Western Passenger Train in Virginia.

Roanoke, Va.—Norfolk & Western passenger train No. 3, west-bound, and an extra coal train east-bound, sideswiped in a cut near Montvale, 16 miles east of Roanoke at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, resulting in the death of one man and the injury of a dozen passengers, none of whom, however, was seriously hurt. The passenger train was loaded with people returning from the Jamestown exposition. The dead man is K. P. Umbrager, express messenger, Wytheville, Va.

Actress Shoots Herself.

Gallipolis, O.—Miss Texas Guinan, leading lady with the "Simple Simon" Theatrical company, accidentally shot herself in the side during the performance in a local theater Thursday night. How the revolver came to be loaded is a mystery. Miss Guinan finished the song she was singing before being carried from the stage. She will probably recover if blood poisoning does not set in.

Steamers Collide; One Sinks.

Detroit, Mich.—One man was killed and the steel steamer John W. Moore was sunk early Sunday in a collision between the Moore and the Queen City in the Detroit river.

Burglar Kills Peoria Policeman.

Peoria, Ill.—During a pistol duel with a burglar, who had robbed a residence of several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds, Ed Barrett, a policeman, was shot and killed early Sunday morning. The man escaped.

Virginia Congressman Dies.

Big Stone Gap, Va.—Campbell Slemp, member of congress from the Ninth district of Virginia, died Sunday of angina pectoris. He was the only Republican member of the Virginia delegation in congress.

POVERTY WAS INHERITED.

Gov. Ford's Daughter Finds Home in Almshouse.

Lincoln.—From the governor's mansion to an almshouse is to be the life contrast of Mrs. Anna Davies, daughter of Thomas Ford, one of the early governors of Illinois. Poverty, like riches, the Ford family demonstrates, can be inherited one generation after another. The fates decreed the Ford family poverty over 100 years ago, and two months ago unbearable destitution overtook Mrs. Davies in her little home in Middletown, about 15 miles from here. She is now 70 years old, and without friends or relatives except for a daughter of meager circumstances living in Chicago. A Methodist minister of Middletown discovered Mrs. Davies' destitute circumstances, which she was too proud to tell. She had run through the last of her small savings. She inherited nothing, and the minister had her sent to the local deaconess' hospital as a charity patient. The official papers have been signed for her transfer to the Soldiers' Widows' home at Wilmington, so that she may there end her days. She is eligible to the home because her husband was a soldier in the Mexican war.

TIMBER KING'S GOLDEN WEDDING

Frederick Weyerhaeuser Serves Feast to 102 at Rock Island.

Rock Island.—Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the "timber king," whose holdings of standing timber are said to make him the wealthiest man in America next to John D. Rockefeller, and his wife celebrated here their golden wedding. There were present seven children and 11 grandchildren, besides other relations and old friends. The dinner in the evening that followed a day of festivity and congratulations was served to 102 persons.

Mr. Weyerhaeuser and his wife made the journey to Rock Island from St. Paul, where their home has been for many years, in the steamer F. Weyerhaeuser, a pleasure boat of the typical Mississippi river pattern. The celebration was held in the home of Samuel S. Davis, son-in-law of Mr. Weyerhaeuser and one of the wealthy citizens of Rock Island. Many years ago Mr. Weyerhaeuser built the mansion, one of the finest in the middle west. One room is said to have cost $40,000 because of its finish and carvings.

Bankers Elect Officers.

Moline.—"Don't forget this," said "Uncle Joe" Cannon in an optimistic burst over the coming generation to the seventeenth annual convention of the Bankers' Association of Illinois, "that those who will follow us will be quite as good as we are and quite as able as we to guard against evil."

Judge Julian W. Mack, of Chicago, delivered an analytical discourse on the negotiable instruments law which passed the last legislature and became law July 1. He explained the advantages of the new law and emphasized the necessity of such a statute, which he said is in effect a codification of the best features of the common law regulations prevailing in various parts of the country.

The session came to a close with the election of the following officers for the ensuing year:

President, August Blum, of Chicago; vice president, James McKinney, Aledo; secretary, F. P. Judson, Chicago; treasurer, W. G. Cathcart, Lyons.

The 1908 convention will be held in Chicago in December of that year.

Balloon Catches Fire, Explodes.

Kewanee.—Jumping to the ground from a rapidly ascending balloon, J. S. White, a Michigan aeronaut, sought to escape the consequences of a fire which threatened the destruction of his parachute. He fell with great force upon a stone pavement and sustained injuries from which it is feared he will die. The burning balloon and parachute fell through the roof of the post office, where the gas bag exploded and caused a disastrous conflagration.

Brown's Candidacy Indorsed.

Vandalia.—The Fayette county Republican committee indorsed the candidacy of J. J. Brown, of Vandalia, for the nomination of secretary of state. Representatives were present from the ten counties in this congressional district. Senator Hopkins and W. A. Northcott spoke.

Taylorville Cashier Resigns.

Taylorville.—F. F. Knotts has resigned as cashier of the new Taylorville National bank and will remain at Waggoner. Will W. Calloway has resigned as assistant cashier of the First National bank in order to engage in the grocery business in this city with his brothers.

Fire at Hindsboro.

Hindsboro.—The broomcorn shed and large barn on the farm of Mrs. Robert Miller, four miles west of this place, were totally destroyed by fire.

CANNON PLAYS FOOTBALL.

"Uncle Joe" Kicks Off for College Boys at Galesburg.

Galesburg.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, began his football career, and by the vigorous "boost" he gave the pigskin showed he was not decrepit despite his 72 years.

His kick of 25 yards opened the annual game of Lombard and Carthage colleges. Then the speaker got out of the road to let the younger generation finish their tussle, while he went back to his long cigars.

Speaker Cannon was escorted to the field, introduced to the players, and informed that his duty was to kick the ball as near the goal posts as possible.

"That's easy," was the response. "Let me have one trial first."

"Uncle Joe" took a hitch in his trousers and booted the ball 70 feet. Then he tried again and did better, and the game began, Lombard winning by a score of 40 to 0.

DELEGATES ARE CHOSEN.

Illinois Central Attorney Charges Politics in Big Case.

Ottawa.—The arguments on the demurrer to the bill filed by Attorney General Stead against the Illinois Central Railroad company were commenced before Judge S. P. Stough.

There is an imposing array of legal talent in the case, including Attorney General Stead, Railroad Commissioner Boys of Streator, representing the state, and J. M. Dickinson of Chicago and W. H. Horton of Peoria for the company. The latter argued on the insufficiency of the bill because it failed to particularize and point out wherein the company had violated any law. He said this bill was inspired by political motives by people in power who sought reelection, and that those people were not incumbents of the attorney general's office.

THREE AUTOISTS KILLED.

Brother and Two Nieces of Pekin Man Lose Lives in Accident.

Pekin.—D. M. Shepler received a message from Connersville, Ind., announcing that his brother and two daughters had been killed Sunday evening in an automobile accident.

His brother had only recently purchased a machine and had taken a drive of the macadam road near his farm a few miles' distant from Connersville. The machine got out of control and dashed over an embankment, three of the occupants being so terribly bruised and cut that death ensued.

Illinois Pastors Quit.

Alton.—At a joint meeting of the ministerial and lay electoral delegates of the Southern Alliance conference, which met at Mount Carmel, a resolution was passed urging the estimating committees of the various churches to take into consideration the increased cost of living expenses when fixing their pastors' salaries.

Low salaries have obtained for years in this conference. This has caused many able pastors to be transferred to other fields. One year 22 transfers were made. This year a much less number asked for transfers.

Several ministers have left the pulpit for more productive callings. Among the number are the former pastor at Alton, who has engaged in the real estate business, and the Effingham pastor, who has left the ministry to write insurance.

"Sterling In Name, In Fact."

Sterling.—A novel scheme has been adopted by the Sterling Industrial association to advertise the city, and it is expected that it will bring good results.

Large signs have been placed at the railroad stations bearing the following inscription:

"Sterling in name, in fact. Write our industrial association."

The association was organized for the purpose of doubling the population of the city before the next census.

Prices Advanced.

Chicago.—Beer is going to cost more after this. The brewers say they'll have to squeeze out another 50 cents a barrel. So if a man wants to buy a barrel of the foamy beverage he will have to pay the increased cost of malt and a few other things. A nickel will buy a glass of beer, though, just the same.

Engine Falls in River.

Darby.—Two west-bound freight trains collided on the long trestle on the Wabash railroad here.

The new mogul engine on one of the trains was thrown into the river 20 feet below. Seven loaded freight cars and 100 feet of track were destroyed by fire. The crews escaped by jumping.

Poultry Exhibit Ready.

Petersburg.—Arrangements are completed for the interstate poultry show to be held in this city December 11 to 14.

A REAL "HOSS" RACE.

Country Fair the Place to See It at Its Best.

If you would see a horse strapped, booted, braced and geared to the limit, you must seek such a track as you see at the old-time country fair. Here comes an awkward flea-bitten gray which never went under 2:50 in his life. He is hobbled and checked and goggled, and hitched up sidewise, lengthwise and crosswise until there is more harness than horse. You wonder how his driver ever got him into this rigging, and how he will get him out again without cutting him free with a jackknife. A farmer with a gray beard and twinkling eye observes to his neighbor:

"Last time John Martin had that plug out on the road I told him he had the old cripple overloaded with fust-aids-to-the-injured. Them straps that was cal'lated to hoist up his knees must ha' pulled too tight and the critter was yanked clean off the ground. What John was gettin' ready for was a race for flyin' machines, not a hoss trot."—From "The Country Fair," by David Lansing, in Outing.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON.

In Torments with Terrible Sores on Face and Body—Tore at Flesh —Cured by Cuticura.

"My little son, when about a year and a half old began to have sores come out on his face. They began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton and was hardly able to walk. I sent to the drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since, and only for the Cuticura Remedies my precious child would have died from these terrible sores. I used only one cake of Soap and about three boxes of Ointment. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn., April 22, 1905."

Didn't Need Cyclopedias.

The canvasser for a cyclopedia came to the home of a colonel, whose record he had carefully studied before his visit. The colonel was especially proud of some of his sons, so the canvasser began with:

"Those are very fine boys of yours, colonel."

"They are," replied the colonel.

"I reckon you are ready to buy anything those boys want?"

"I am so," said the father of the fine boys.

"Well, then, let me sell you this cyclopedia. There's nothing will do your sons so much good."

But the colonel looked at him aghast. "Why, them lads of mine don't need any cyclopedia. They ride mules!"

Mr. Malaprop Just Home from Rome.

A regular Mr. Malaprop recently came home from his first visit to Europe. He grew enthusiastic about Rome.

"It was fine," he declared, "to go into them churches over there and see the old tombs—cigarrophagusses, they call 'em. And then the Sixteen chapel is great, and as for the Vaccination, where the pope lives, well!"

But his stock of compliments give out when he got to the subject of beggars.

"I always refused them pennies," he said, "because, you see, I didn't want to set a bad prestige!"

Not a Hit as an Improviser.

"Did you ever hear anybody improvise?" he asked.

"No," said she, and he sat down to the piano and improvised for about an hour and a half. At the end of that time he turned around, his face full of expression, and said to her:

"What do you think of it?"

"Lovely!" she exclaimed. "Beautiful! I never heard anything like it!"

But this is what she said to the hallboy when he was gone:

"If that long, lank lunatic who improvises asks for me again, you tell him I am out."

Bush Over Buried Treasure.

There is a tradition in Germany that it was customary in the Middle Ages to put an elderberry plant over buried treasure. A farmer at Oelsdorf while plowing close to such a bush unearthed a vessel containing 2,300 silver coins of the eleventh century.

TEN YEARS OF PAIN.

Unable to Do Even Housework Because of Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. Margaret Emmerich, of Clinton St., Napoleon, O., says: "For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from kidney troubles. My back pained me terribly. Every turn or move caused sharp, shooting pains. My eyesight was poor, dark spots appeared before me, and I had dizzy spells. For ten years I could not do housework, and for two years did not get out of the house. The Kidney secretions were irregular, and doctors were not helping me. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me quick relief, and finally cured me. They saved my life."

SEEK TO WIN SOLDIERS.

Russian Girls Risk Life for the Cause of Liberty.

"When the university opened last autumn I started to work again among the soldiers," said the young woman. "As you know, the revolutionists are at present working very hard to win over the army, and one of the means is to talk freedom directly to the soldiers. For this girls have been found to be more effective than men; the young peasant soldiers are more willing to listen to girls, and are far readier to protect them from arrest. So all over Russia hundreds and hundreds of girls are now nightly meeting with groups of soldiers, in working men's homes and in barracks. To go into barracks and talk revolution to the soldiers, hardly anything is so dangerous—for the girl caught is tried by court-martial and in a day or two is executed.—From Leroy Scott's Interview with a Russian Woman, in Everybody's.

Man Whose Memory Was Bad.

For more than an hour a witness for the defense had dodged questions. His faulty memory was particularly exasperating for the counsel for the plaintiff, who was seeking to recall to the witness recollection an event of four of five years previous. Eventually the man remembered "something about it."

"Ah," continued the lawyer for the plaintiff, "what dd you think of it at the time?"

"Really," said the witness, speaking before the lawyer for the defense had time to interpose objection, "it was so long ago I can't recall exactly what I thought of it."

"Well," shouted the cross-examiner, excitedly, "if you can't recall, tell us what you think now you thought then."

Willing Hands.

There is a good story going the rounds in Pittsburg of a young man, formerly a stock-broker, who dropped many thousands in speculation during the early spring.

One night, shortly after going to bed, the Pittsburger was awakened by strange signs. At his first motion to jump up he was greeted by a hoarse voice. "If you stir, you're a dead man!" it said. "I'm looking for money."

"In that case," pleasantly answered the erstwhile speculator, "kindly allow me to arise and strike a light. I shall deem it a favor to be permitted to assist in the search."—Harper's Weekly.

Cats as Plague Preventive.

An Italian correspondent of the North China Daily News writes: "The newspapers have latterly been full of all sorts of suggestions for the stamping out of plague. For instance, never kill rats; if you do the fatal rat flea may be driven to feed on you. Also, compel each householder to keep cats. In fact, let the cult of the cat as it prevailed in ancient Egypt be revived in India. Plenty of cats, no rats."

Well Qualified.

"So you want the position of advance agent for our circus?" interrogated the manager. "Well, we need a man who can stir up some life everywhere he goes." "That's me, boss," hastened the applicant. "Had any experience in stirring up life?" "You bet! I used to drive a street sweeper and stirred up millions of germs every day."

Wagner as a Curative Agent.

Vernon Lee has told somewhere the story of the marvelous effects of Wagner on a headache. One does, after a time, succumb to what is a kind of hypnotism; the sound seems almost to clear the air, or at least to lull one into a kind of dream in which only the sense of hearing exists.

TRAIN KILLS FOUR

MOTOR CAR SMASHED ON RAILWAY GRADE CROSSING.

ONE MAN FATALLY HURT

Party from Kimberton, Pa., Meets Terrible Death in Pottstown—Driver Could Not See Tracks.

Pottstown, Pa.—As the result of a grade crossing automobile accident on the Philadelphia & Reading railway at Keim street here Monday night, four persons were killed and one probably fatally injured.

The automobile, which was run down on the crossing by a Pottsville express, contained a party of five persons from Kimberton, Chester county, Pa. The dead are: Jacob Reese, aged 55 years; Mrs. Jacob Reese, aged 48 years; Mrs. Anthony W. Emery, Jr., aged 42 years, and Belva Emery, aged one year, child of Mrs. Emery.

Anthony W. Emery, Jr., owner and driver of the automobile, was the only one of the party to escape death, and his thigh was broken and he received internal injuries in the accident.

The party were on their way home from a shopping tour in this city when the accident occurred. The crossing where the automobile was struck is reached after a sharp turn. A hedge and a clump of trees, together with two buildings, partly obscure the crossing until within a short distance of its approach, and it is probable Mr. Emery did not know a train was due, for he drove the machine directly on the track in front of the express.

The automobile was broken into bits and the members of the party were hurled out of the machine. Mr. Reese and Mrs. Emery were killed instantly. Mrs. Reese's neck was broken and she died on the train while being brought into the city. Belva Emery died from a fractured skull in a hospital a few hours after the accident.

SIMPKINS SEEN IN SPOKANE.

Missing Miner, Reported Dead, Interviewed in the Washington City.

Portland, Ore.—A special from Spokane says Jack Simpkins was recognized on the streets of that city last week and interviewed, and said he did not make any move to avoid arrest, that he had been in Denver, Seattle, British Columbia and other places, that he had brushed up against policemen and detectives, but that he is not courting arrest because perhaps several years would elapse before he was brought to trial.

"What is there in Orchard's confession?" he was asked.

"I don't know. I will say this, I was in Boise at the time and saw Orchard there. He was trying, so he claimed, to buy a small ranch."

TRAIN GOES THROUGH TRESTLE.

One Woman Killed and Many Injured at Stony Ford, N. Y.

Middletown, N. Y.—One man was killed, five others were probably fatally hurt and six or eight were badly injured Monday when 17 cars of a worktrain crashed through a trestle on the new Erie & Jersey railway at Stony Ford, near here. The cars were loaded with dirt and stone, and 20 Austrian laborers who were on them went down to the bottom of the ravine, 90 feet below.

The engineer felt the trestle giving and, putting on full speed, succeeded in getting across with his engine and one car. The coupling with the second car broke and all the rest of the train went into the ravine.

OIL TRUST DELUDED PUBLIC.

Supposed Independent Companies Were Owned by Combine.

New York.—Hampton G. Westcott, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, testified Monday, in the hearing of the federal suit against the oil combine, that in several of the southern states the Standard had found it expedient to sell much of its products through companies which the public believed to be independent. The practice of selling through so-called independent companies, which were owned by the combine, was discontinued two years ago, according to Mr. Westcott.

Schmitz Loses Right to Appeal.

San Francisco.—According to the district attorney's office, Eugene Schmitz, former mayor of San Francisco, but now a convict, has lost the right to appeal to a higher court through a blunder of his attorney, Charles H. Fairall, and must go to the penitentiary forthwith.

Editor of Western Horseman Dies.

RHEUMATISM RECIPE

PREPARE SIMPLE HOME-MADE MIXTURE YOURSELF.

Buy the Ingredients from Any Druggist in Your Town and Shake Them in a Bottle to Mix This.

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable, yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being a vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of even the small towns elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists will mix the prescription if asked to.

A Young Composer.

Rachel, aged 12, wrote an composition on wild flowers in which she praised the arbutus, the liverwort, the spring beauty, the blood root, and all of the other blossoms of dell and dale. But she wrote on both sides of her sheet of paper, and when she asked her father, who was an editor, to publish her article, he called her attention to that fact.

"You've written on both sides of your paper," said he.

"Well," was the reply, "and don't you print on both sides of yours?"

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Reason This Out.

An English quarryman was charged with assaulting one of his mates, and when the case was carried into court, an eyewitness of the occurrence gave some curious evidence.

"He tuk a pick an' he tuk a pick," the witness began, "an' he hit him wid his pick, an' he hit him wid his pick; an' if he'd hit him wid his as hard as he hit him wid his, he'd have near killed him, and not him him."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Peculiar Ice Cave.

Problems Concerning Wealth.

It's easy to understand why so few of us have money. Those who know how to make it don't know how to keep it, and those who can keep it can't get it, and that's the only reason why they can't keep it.

By following the directions, which are plainly printed on each package of Defiance Starch, Men's Collars and Cuffs can be made just as stiff as desired, with either gloss or domestic finish. Try it, 16 oz. for 10c, sold by all good grocers.

A Break in the Ceremony.

Little Tom was two years old and talking before his proud parents took him to be christened. Though limited, his vocabulary included one or two choice words picked up from his father. Of course, he looked like a perfect little cherub on the eventful day, with his wide blue eyes and shining curls and mother had got him up in great shape for the ceremony. At the most impressive point Tom turned to his father and exclaimed in aggravated tones: "Why, damn it, he wet my head!"

Police of World's Cities.

Berlin's patrolmen are one to 340, Liverpool's are one to 449, London's one to 496, and Philadelphia has one patrolman for every 511 citizens. On Manhattan island there is but one policeman to every 643 inhabitants.

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

BACKACHE AND DESPONDENCY

MISS LENA NAGEL

Are both symptoms of organic derangement, and nature's warning to women of a trouble which will sooner or later declare itself.

How often do we hear women say, "It seems as though my back would break." Yet they continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, dragging sensations, nervousness and no ambition.

They do not realize that the back is the main-spring of woman's organism and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the feminine organs or kidneys, and that aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

made from native roots and herbs has been for many years the most successful remedy in such cases. No other medicine has such a record of cures of feminine ills.

Miss Lena Nagel, of 117 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—"I was completely worn out and on the verge of nervous prostration. My back ached all the time. I had dreadful periods of pain, was subject to fits of crying and extreme nervousness, and was always weak and tired. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, and all Organic Diseases. Dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage. It strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache and Indigestion and invigorates the whole feminine system.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

New and Liberal Homestead Regulations in

WESTERN CANADA

New Districts Now Opened for Settlement

Some of the choicest lands in the grain growing belts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been opened for settlement under the Revised Homestead Regulations of Canada. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are now available. The new regulations make it possible for entry to be made by proxy, the opportunity that many in the United States have been waiting for. Any member of a family may make entry for any other member of the family, who may be entitled to make entry for himself or herself. Entry may now be made before the Agent or Sub-Agent of the District by proxy, (on certain conditions) by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

"Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person the sole head of a family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less."

The fee in each case will be $10.00. Churches, schools and markets convenient. Healthy climate, splendid crops and good laws. Grain-growing and cattle raising principal industries.

For further particulars as to rates, routes, best time to go and where to locate, apply to C. J. BROUGHTON, Room 430 Quincy Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; W. H. ROGERS, third floor, Traction Terminal Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.; or T. O. CURRIE, Room 12 B, Callahan Block, Milwaukee, Wis.

Name Sounded Familiar.

I was turning over the leaves of a magazine one afternoon and my little brother, three years old, happened to be standing near. As I turned one page I gazed on a lovely painting of Joan of Arc. "Do you know who this is, Ralph?" I asked. He looked at it for a second and then he said, "Oh, yes, I know; that's—that's—oh, you know,' he stammered, "she's the one who swallowed the whale." He had confounded the two names of Jonah and Joan.—Exchange.

INTERRED IN STRANGE STYLE.

Man Who Wanted Books in His Coffin —Burial Robe of Scarlet Silk.

Sir James Colquhoun, whose recently proved will contains a direction that his body should be dressed for burial in evening costume, was one of many men who have made unconventional arrangements for their interment, says the Westminster Gazette. One of the most singular of these testamentary directions was that of John Underwood, of Whittlesea, whose body, fully dressed, was placed in a green coffin. Under his head was placed a copy of Horace, his feet rested on Bentley's "Milton." Bentley's "Horace" was placed beneath his back, and on his right and left were a third Horace and a Greek Testament. Mrs. Margaret Cousins, of Cuxton, in Kent, made her last journey attired in a flaming dress of scarlet silk; and a coal hewer, of Tong, near Leeds (one Jack Hustler), was laid to rest with his head pillowed on a lump of coal and with his pipe and tobacco by his side.
